HISTORICAL. Gleanings Here, There and Everywhere, But Mostly in Oxford County

BY LEONARD B. CHAPMAN.

THE RECORD BOOKS—SOME THINGS THEY SHOW.

The Atlantic and St. Lawrence railroad was chartered in the month of February of 1845, "to open a channel of trade between Montreal and Portland, the two places being the points where the valley of the St. Lawrence and the coast of the Atlantic Ocean approach nearest to each other."

The company was organized in Maine in September, 1845, a million of dollars capital having been subscribed, mostly in Portland. Ground was broken July 4th, 1846. There was, considering the size of Portland, a great demonstration on that day. I remember the event in many details. The town "by the sea" was a finished place. The forests of pine growth had been devastated, the products sent off mostly to the West Indies, molasses and rum brought back in return, and the molasses distilled into more rum, there being in Portland at a population of 20,000 seven distilleries. True, some of the oaks growing along the coast were worked into the construction vessels that carried off the saw-mill products, and the staves manufactured by the farmer in the winter for rim punches, while the sloops carried off cord-wood from the numerous landing places along the coast of the State to Boston, Salem and other large places, exchanging groceries, etc., etc., for the few kinds of State products that could be spared by the farmers.

The people of Bethel in common with other inland towns were obliged to be self-supporting, that is, dependent upon the products of the soil, such as the pine tree growth, that being about the only thing produced for sale, particularly the huge mast pine for vessels' masts which were hauled and floated many miles to seaport places, and sold to agents of the British navy.

For clothes the people of Bethel depended upon sheep's wool; for thread, mostly upon the flax fiber; for bread, upon corn meal; for meat, largely upon wild animals; for sweetening, maple sap, reduced to syrup and sugar; for salaratus, lyce made from ashes of burned corn cobs; and salt upon evaporated salt water where salt-works were established in many places along the coast to which in many cases in the transfer of real estate allusions are made. A rusty, crooked nail had a value, and "time was money." For glass, greased white, or pieces of a newspaper was first used; for evening light, pitch-nots from decayed mast-bay, more than two centuries old, one century for growth the other for decay; the use of a "salt" when one could be obtained, made by the use of an earthen dish filled with grease with a rag inserted which was ignited by the use of the tinder-box, the spark being obtained by striking violently a piece of steel held in one hand with a flint stone in the other, the spark falling from the two falling together under the made of burned cloth or "punk" from decayed wood. The implements for fire manufacturing may be found in some of the ancient residences. Tin peddlers carried the pink holders or tinder boxes and extinguishers for sale when I was a small boy. When "tinder matches" were introduced they were a great wonder and sold for a nickel (12 1/2 cents) per box—a box being made of two inches long and a little over an inch in diameter, with a cover. When the tinder was set on fire by the fallen spark the ignited part was placed between two coals and blown by the mouth till a blaze was raised, sufficiently strong to ignite savings of dry wood. A knowledge of the process of fire kindling now remains an observation only in the minds of a very few individuals. To borrow of near neighbors was a common practice.

July, 1848, the railroad had been moved to North Yarmouth—a distance of two miles from Portland.
December, same year, to Danville—twenty-seven miles.
February, 1849, to Mechanic Falls—sixty-six miles.

MT. ABRAM LODGE ENTERTAINED SAT. EVE.

As stated in last week's Citizen the Bethel Lodge of L. O. E. F. entertained the Old Fellows of this district, and several invited lodges on Saturday evening, April 5th. As was expected there was a large gathering and Odeon Hall proved none too large for the company and the comfortable working of the third degree.

Norway Lodge led the list in point of numbers and if we have the figures correct brought 37 members. West Paris 52, and South Paris about 40, which with a few from Waterville and Rumford Lodges and some scattering from out of State lodges with the members of the home lodge brought the grand total up close to the 500 mark. A special train brought the members from down the line of the Grand Trunk which arrived at Bethel at seven-thirty in the evening. The members of the Mt. Abram Lodge had assembled in a body at the station to welcome the visiting Brothers, and on the arrival of the train led the march to Odeon Hall with a drum corps. As the Norway team also brought music which formed in the center of the line the martial music could be heard the whole length of the line although reaching from the station to the hall.

It was indeed an inspiring sight to see that body of men marching and to know that it meant Brotherhood, Friendship, Love, and Truth, and the uplift of fellow men. At a little after eight o'clock J. S. Hutchins, N. G., of Mt. Abram Lodge, called to order and after the opening the Lodge proceeded at once to the special work of the evening, the working of the third degree by the Norway team. It is needless to make any extended remarks about the work except to say that the unanimous verdict "How could it have been done better?" was on every tongue.

Three candidates from West Paris Lodge and two from Mt. Abram were given this degree.
The music was furnished by Norway Lodge and was much enjoyed. After the work there were remarks and speeches by members of the Order from the various Lodges represented, and many bright and witty things were said. Some, also, in a more serious vein imparted useful lessons and told of the wonderful lessons taught by Old Fellowship.

At a late hour the meeting was closed and all repaired to Mt. Abram L. O. E. F. Hall, where hot coffee, sandwiches, cakes, doughnuts, etc., were served by the Rebekahs of St. James Lodge. It was a very enjoyable occasion and will long be remembered as one of the bright spots in the history of Mt. Abram Lodge by its members.

MILLINERY OPENING AT MRS. J. L. FINNEY'S.

Friday and Saturday, Apr. 4 and 5, were opening days at Mrs. Finney's, and despite the weather and traveling a goodly number came to see the latest in hats. Mrs. Finney has a large display and the colors are so varied it seems that every one should be able to find something especially suited to them.

One fundamental characteristic of the new hats is simplicity, being made without wire foundations. The trimmings are, perhaps, an exception, a sweep of ostrich or a fantasy ostrich tip. Every possible combination of a quill or feather has been invented and the colored plumes is rightly named, many being bent to represent an inverted question mark. These come in delightful two color effects, however, and make very effective trimmings. We were told that one of the very latest things in trimming was the Nummie feather. This is an uncured form of ostrich egret.

Some of the smartest straw shapes show two long tufts of ribbon protruding far beyond the brims, while one was noticed which had black ribbon loops which came up through the rim at the back.

Amber brown, yellow, cerise and green are among the favorite shades, while a new shade of orange in wings, etc., is proving popular. A parrot feather made from the plumage of the parrot is new and rich.

A violet hat was noticed which made one think of a breath of Springtime.
A dainty little hat of yellow straw and trimmed with yellow ribbon had the chin strap as it is called, the ribbon being fastened on one side and extending under the chin to the other side, thus keeping the hat in place.

EASTERN STAR ENTERTAINMENT.

On Wednesday, Apr. 2, the members of the Eastern Star and their invited guests spent a most pleasant evening at their hall at Bethel. After the regular meeting a program consisting of a piano duet by Misses Doris Frost and Ernestine Philbrook, a solo by Miss Agnes Hutchins, a reading by Miss Alice Freeman and a solo by Mr. H. S. Pashard, Miss Mildred Hapgood accompanist, was greatly enjoyed, each feature of the program being especially well carried out.

The remainder of the evening was spent in guessing contests. Various articles were placed about the room and each one received a paper having the names of the different articles upon it. By studying one soon found that "Something to Adore" was a hinge, while a bell and walking stick proved to be "Two Brothers," Calm and Abel.

The next contest was on titles, for eleven books being represented. Some especially clever representations were given. Mr. Dollison Conroy secured the first prize, which was a glass and silver tooth brush holder, while Mr. W. C. Curtis had the consolation prize, a box of chocolates.

Mrs. E. H. Young had charge of the dainty refreshments of punch, fancy crackers, candy and peanuts which were served from tables attractively decorated with carnations.

This delightful entertainment was planned by Mrs. E. L. Edwards to whom much credit is due.

MILLINERY AND SPRING GOODS AT MISS L. M. STEARNS.

The glimpse of the summer hats with flowers of various colors that we get a peep at as we go down Main street reminds us that spring is with us although a snow storm was one of the features of last week.

As one enters Miss Stearns' store the beautiful decorations of flowers and foliage make one forget the mud outside and think of "the good old summer time."

The hats are all small this year and the low flat crown is decidedly stylish, while brown seems to be one of the favorite colors. The flowers are especially beautiful and include almost any color one might desire. The most roses are delightful and make exceedingly pretty trimmings.

When flowers are used they are often placed erect at the side in a stiff arrangement.

A linen colored straw was noticed. This is one of the new shades, and it made a very attractive hat trimmed with ribbon and an ornament of hand. Ribbons play an important part in the summer millinery. Many of the new ribbons show fancy bordered designs and the Dressers are popular. Straw plaques are used both for crowns and as trimmings.

One pretty hat suitable for an evening party was a small black tortoise with genuine foliage and pink tails, a few loops of black ribbon on the left side gave it its height.

An odd creation for a tailored hat has a striped straw quill, the stripes being of various colors. One of the noticeable features this season is the combination of colors.

Numbers indeed are the pretty shapes and colors and a call will convince you of this fact.

Miss Stearns has a dainty line of baby bonnets which will delight all mothers. She also has new spring gossamer hats which we are sure will meet your approval.

SHERIFF BALLOU FOUND GUILTY.

Moulton Trial Commenced Saturday. Legislators Becoming Tired.

The Legislature by a vote of 18 to 11 in the Senate and 81 to 50 in the House voted at 11:30 Friday night to present an address to Governor Haines, asking for the removal of John W. Ballou from his position as sheriff, for the causes following:

"Because the said John W. Ballou, who is now holding the office of sheriff for the county of Sagadahoc, and who has held said office continuously since the first day of January, A. D. 1913, wilfully or corruptly refuses or neglects to perform the duties required of him as such sheriff by section 69 of chapter 29 of the Revised Statutes of this state, as amended by chapter 41 of the public laws of 1905, and particularly his duties as said sheriff in enforcement of the laws against the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors and the keeping of drinking houses and tippling shops."

Hon. Scott Wilson of Portland, the attorney general of the State, represented the prosecution and was assisted by Judge Benjamin F. Cleaves of Biddeford and Edward C. Plummer of Bath.

Sheriff Ballou, who occupied a seat near his counsel was represented by Ex-Attorney General William R. Pataungall of Waterville and Frank L. Staples of Bath.

Col. Plummer outlined the evidence that would be offered to prove the claim of the State. He said a record of the taxes of the retail liquor dealers who have been in the County of Sagadahoc during the present year would be offered. This would show that 43 licenses had been issued for the little county and that 33 were in the city of Bath alone, a city of 8,000 or 9,000 inhabitants and 2,400 registered voters. The attorney declared that it would be shown that these licenses were held by men during the period covered by this resolve, men who were notorious liquor sellers, who had not other visible means of support. The names of these men, he said, had been resident on the docket of the Superior court for years. If a man desired honestly to get at the facts he would have taken action on these.

It would be shown that the police had taken action to enforce the law and it would be shown by the judgment of the court that no complaint of record leading to possible prosecution had been made by the sheriff or his deputies.

The cold concise reasoning of Attorney General Wilson prevailed over the masterly appeal to the hearts and sympathy of the jurors-legislators by former Attorney General Pataungall. In the light of the evidence gleaned from 11 witnesses, including Sheriff Ballou, the attorney general built his case.

Seven of the witnesses, appearing for the prosecution, testified to the conditions existing in Bath, with its 20 saloons, eight liquor clubs, four gambling houses and 12 houses of ill fame.

The defense sought in vain to turn back the tide by proving that aged Mr. Ballou had not known of these conditions but had been betrayed by the others under him. The counsel for Mr. Ballou also tried to bring out that there is an "agreement" existing whereby the enforcement of the liquor law in the city of Bath is left to the municipal officers to the exclusion of the sheriff's force.

It was discovered to be a fact, however, that several deputy sheriffs have been kept in this city on the watch, supposedly, for illegal selling of liquors or habitations of vice.

It was a long trial. The convention was called to order at 10:15 A. M. and adjourned at 12 M., after hearing the witnesses for the prosecution. The convention again re-assembled at 2 P. M. in session until 8, adjourning on the 11th. It was dissolved at 10:25, both houses going into executive session. The House vote was announced at about 12:45 and the Senate at 11:25.

All of Saturday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning have been spent on the trial of Sheriff Moulton of Portland, and yet it had not arrived at the voting point as we go to press Wednesday. Many witnesses were present.

WRECK NEAR W. BETHEL, TUESDAY.

Fourteen Cars Derailed. Traffic Delayed.

Fourteen cars of the through freight from Montreal to Portland were derailed Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock between Gilead and West Bethel, about two miles from West Bethel station. These were loaded with export stuff and will be nearly a total loss, they having succeeded in getting two or three back onto the rails and the remaining ones will be burned.

No one was injured, but traffic was delayed Wednesday. A wrecking train was sent from Portland to assist in clearing the track, but the rails in some places were twisted into bows, and many of the cars were an almost unrecognizable mass.

The passengers, mails, etc., were transferred around the wreck and the train which should have reached Bethel at 8:55 A. M., came about 12:30.

MARY ELLEN LOCKE.

Many people were saddened Monday to hear of the death of Miss Mary Ellen Locke which occurred Sunday evening at the Locke House, Bethel, where she was born and has always lived, with the exception of a few months spent in the West.

She has kept the Locke House, which is so well and favorably known by the many people who have spent the summer months there, continuously for twenty-nine years and was assisted by her sister, Phila, until the latter's death.

Miss Locke was taken ill while in Lewiston last June, but improved in health and came to her home later, but five months ago was again stricken and has been failing since that time.

As one who had known her for many years stated, "She was a very pleasant woman to meet, a splendid neighbor and will be greatly missed by her many friends."

She was born Sept. 15, 1843 and was the daughter of Charles Russell and Susan Hill Locke. She was one of seven children, two of whom are now living, Mrs. Susan E. Douglass of Bethel and Mrs. Elizabeth Locke Sargent of Eastern Ave., Lewiston.

The funeral was held at 10:30 Wednesday, Rev. B. P. Fickett officiating and burial was at Mount Will Cemetery.

86 YEARS "YOUNG."

Thursday afternoon, Apr. 3rd, a very pleasant anniversary occurred at the home of Judge A. E. Herrick, in honor of Mrs. Herrick's mother, Mrs. Eliza Chase, of Bluehill. It being Mrs. Chase's eighty-sixth birthday, Mrs. Herrick had arranged a little surprise for her mother, and her neighbors and friends were much pleased by the honor of visiting this worthy lady.

Mrs. Chase has, for many years, spent several months annually in Bethel with her daughter, and her visits are always hailed with rejoicing, especially in this immediate neighborhood.

Mrs. Herrick is noted for her gracious hospitality and her afternoon teas are always fraught by ease and social happy thought, and this one was no exception to the general rule.

Mrs. Chase was the recipient of many loving remembrances of letters and cards from family and friends, boxes of beautiful flowers, and many other gifts, and not the least among them, came the lovely birthday cake, with its garlands of ferns and white sweet peas, beautiful to look upon and delicious to taste, contributed by Mrs. Gilbert Todd. The social hour was spent together delightful, and as time and kind Providence has dealt so generously with our good friend in the past, and each year, in spite of her annual warnings to the contrary, she has returned to us, we gave our adieux with the hope that we might meet in reunion to celebrate her eighty-seventh anniversary. Mrs. Chase will soon return to her home at Bluehill. She is a woman of broad mind and refined tastes, and has had a wide range of experience, having early in life traveled the seas with her husband, visited many foreign ports, and her recollections of these voyages are most interesting and entertaining, and her Bethel friends wish for her continued activity and many returns of this very pleasant birthday anniversary.

Pennsylvania, Apr. 2, joined the ranks of the States that have ratified the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution, providing for the direct election of United States senators, making the thirty-fifth to fall in line. The joint resolution ratifying the proposed amendment, which previously passed the House was passed by the Senate Apr. 3 unanimously. The vote of only one more State is needed to make the amendment effective.

Prof. W. R. Chamber of the State Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, Ohio, Apr. 2, presented the almost total ruin of the Ohio wheat crop as a result of the recent flood. "The only way for farmers to avert losses of millions," he said, "is to plant the ground in other crops."

Judge Frederick A. Powers of Houston having declined the chairmanship of the new public utilities commission, which was offered him by Governor Haines, it was announced at his executive offices last week that the position had been proffered to Hon. L. H. Bessy of the House, a former president of the Maine Senate. The two remaining positions have been offered to Hon. Wm. B. Shelton of Lewiston and Joseph Williamson, Esq., of Augusta.

Because his view was obstructed by the hats of women when he attended Easter church services, Senator M. W. Hildesford, at Austin, Tex., has introduced a bill in the state legislature asking it unlawful for any female to wear in church or any public gathering any hat or head dress having a crown or any ornament extending two inches in height or a brim more than two inches wide. The penalty provision reads: "Any person who shall violate the provisions of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be deprived of the privilege of purchasing any new hat for a period of three years and then only be allowed to purchase one costing less than $2 and to be of uniform design, cost and construction."

United States army officers are experimenting with an invention of Alexander P. Humphrey, a pattern maker of Pittsburg, that may revolutionize warfare, the game hunting, pecking and every line of work in which bullets play a part. "Napoleon's bullet" describes the invention in a word. It is a "chambering" missile. Humphrey uses a minute particle of explosive. The drug is carried in tiny wells of the steel jacket of the regular bullet. Humphrey claims that it is as safe as water with the infallibility of the bullet. "The

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and dizziness, and finally, I was nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time. "I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-five pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss J. J. MARCH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

soldier receiving a slight flesh wound from the new bullet," says Mr. Humphrey, "fights no more that day. He calmly stretches himself on the ground and goes to sleep. The man receiving a serious wound suffers no agony, as the narcotic from the bullet is absorbed by his system and he is insensible to pain before he reaches the hospital. The man whose wound is mortal sleeps away his last hours, thus doing away with the most of the battlefield horror. The fleeing burglar is shot in the arm, runs forward a short distance, stretches himself on the sidewalk, and all the policeman has to do is summon an ambulance and take him away."

Vicent Astor is so well pleased with the agricultural experiments that he has called from the West Indies to establish his manager to try several hundred more acres. If everybody could farm while tilling at ease on a steam tractor in the tropics the task to the land movement would be more popular. —Boston Transcript.

High Pressure Days.

Men and women alike have to work incessantly with brain and hand to hold their own nowadays. Never were the demands of business, the wants of the family, the requirements of society, more numerous. The first effect of the pressure is to keep up with all these things is commonly seen in a weakened or debilitated condition of the nervous system, which results in dyspepsia, defective nutrition of both body and brain, and in extreme cases in complete nervous prostration. It is clearly seen that what is needed to what will maintain the system, give vigor and tone to the nerves, and help the digestive and assimilative faculties healthy and active. From personal knowledge, we can recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for this purpose. It acts on all the vital organs, builds up the whole system, and fits men and women for these high-pressure days.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury
As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surface, such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by Dr. J. C. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by Dr. J. C. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

New York handled 3,973,076, and Boston 1,657,036.

Attacks of Indigestion

"I believe Chamberlain's Tablets have saved my life," writes Mrs. Maggie Coll, Golden City, Mo. "I had pains in my stomach so bad I thought I could not live. Our doctor said it was congestion of the stomach. I would go to bed perfectly well and wake up in the night so bad I could not lie down. Our doctor said it would do no good to give medicine internally. He had to inject medicine into my arm. Since taking Chamberlain's Tablets I can eat anything I want without hurting me. This form of indigestion is extremely painful and often dangerous. By taking Chamberlain's Tablets after eating, and especially when you have fullness and weight in the stomach after eating the disease may be avoided. Chamberlain's Tablets not only aid digestion, but strengthen and invigorate the stomach."

The design for a new and smaller parcel post stamp to replace those now in use was approved by Postmaster General Baileson Saturday, March 22. Numerous complaints that the present stamp, all denominations of which are the same color, is hard to distinguish as to value and easily "faked," caused the change. The new design will possess no artistic merit, but bear only a large numeral. The various denominations will be in different colors. Approximately $30,000 yearly will be saved by the smaller stamp, it is estimated.

MARVEL PALACES AT PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION

A Shell's Strange Exploit.
The late Major Merrill of Lawrence was well known in military circles all over the country. When the G. A. R. encampment was held in Kansas City some years ago the soldiers of the east and those of the west vied with each other in telling stories of the war. After listening to some pretty tough yarns Major Merrill related the following and carried off the honors:

"You know, boys, that I served throughout the war in a Massachusetts light battery. During the fighting at Malvern Hill our ammunition was running low, and I was sent to the rear for powder."

"I had an open express wagon and four mules. I got about a ton and a half of loose powder into the wagon and started for the front. About half-way back to my battery a shell landed right in the middle of the powder, and would you believe it, it burned up a bushel and a half before I could stamp out the fire!"—Boston Herald.

Monster Ant Hills.

West African ant hills are veritable giants, frequently standing forty feet high. These ant hills are shaped something like a sugar loaf and are divided inside into hundreds of tiny rooms. They have, needless to say, myriads of inhabitants, and these are all busy unmaking roads, gathering food and watching over the eggs and youngsters. The natives are afraid to touch these hills, except from a distance, with fire arms. The ants often make their strongholds around trees, and they are built very solidly, with sides sometimes twenty inches thick. The inside is hollow, and at the top there is a sort of attic. The "royal cell," where the queen ant lives, is always found on the ground floor. This good lady is a prisoner, but is carefully fed by her busy subjects, the eggs she lays being immediately carried away and deposited in "rooms" set apart for the purpose.—Wide World.

Your Own Body.

Think deliberately of the house you live in—your body. Make up your mind not to abuse it. Eat nothing that will hurt it; wear nothing that distorts or pains it. Do not overload it with victuals or drink or work. Give yourself regular and abundant sleep. Keep your body warmly clad. At the first sign of danger from any of the thousand enemies that surround you defend yourself. Do not take cold; guard yourself against it. If you feel the first symptoms, give yourself heroic treatment. Get into a fine glow of heat by exercise. This is the only body you will ever have in this world. A large share of pleasure and pain of life will come through the use you make of it. Study deeply and diligently the structure of it, the laws that should govern it, the pains and penalties that will surely follow a violation of every law of life or health.

A Merchant, Not a Beggar.

An American lady in Rome bought some matches from a little match vendor. They were wax matches in little decorated boxes. She handed the boy a five solid piece and expected to have two in change, but the little fellow shrugged his shoulders and held the change tightly in his hand, with a begging expression on his face, signifying that he wished to have it given to him, whereupon a second American lady who was accompanying the first straightened herself, looked sternly at the boy and said, "Mercante, non mendicante!" (You are a merchant, not a beggar.) That was an appeal to the boy's self respect, and it so inspired him that he actually laughed and pressed the change upon his customer.—Christian Herald.

All Fortune Tellers.

"You are accused of swindling people on a fortune telling game," said the district attorney. "Can you really read the past?"

"No."

"Well, I can."

And he proceeded to read the culprit's rather stormy record.

"Can you read the future?" inquired the judge.

"No."

"Well, I can to some extent. At any rate, I can tell you where you'll be for the next two years."—Kansas City Journal.

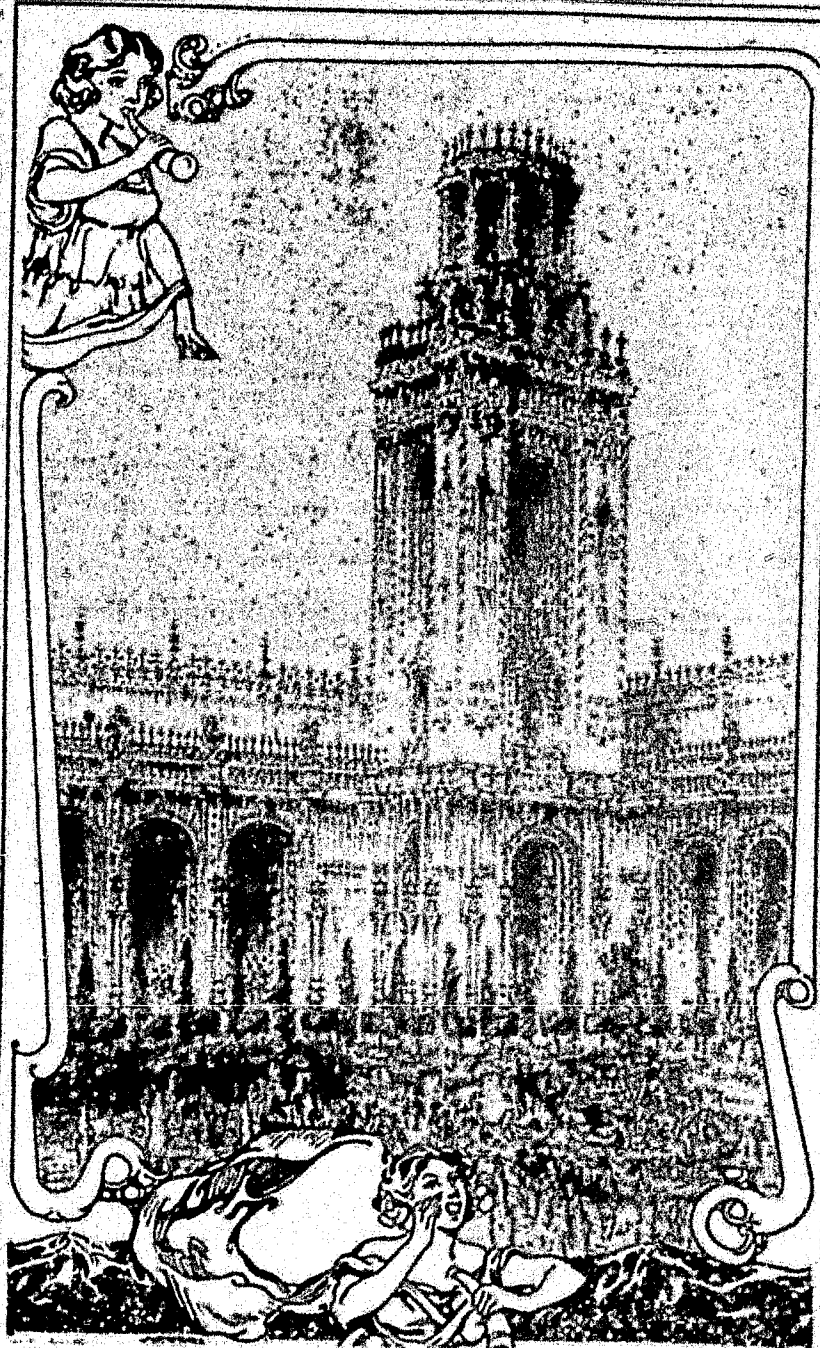

Disraeli's Confidence.

Disraeli wrote a letter to his sister in 1833 in which he said: "I heard Macaulay's best speech. Glad and Charles Grant, Macaulay's admirers, but between ourselves, I could do better than all. This entire house (etc.) I was never more confident of anything than that I could carry everything before me in that house. The time will come."

Then He Went.

"Ah," remarked Miss Weary, when Mr. Staxton had been boring with old countenance, "that last one reminds me of the best thing I ever heard."

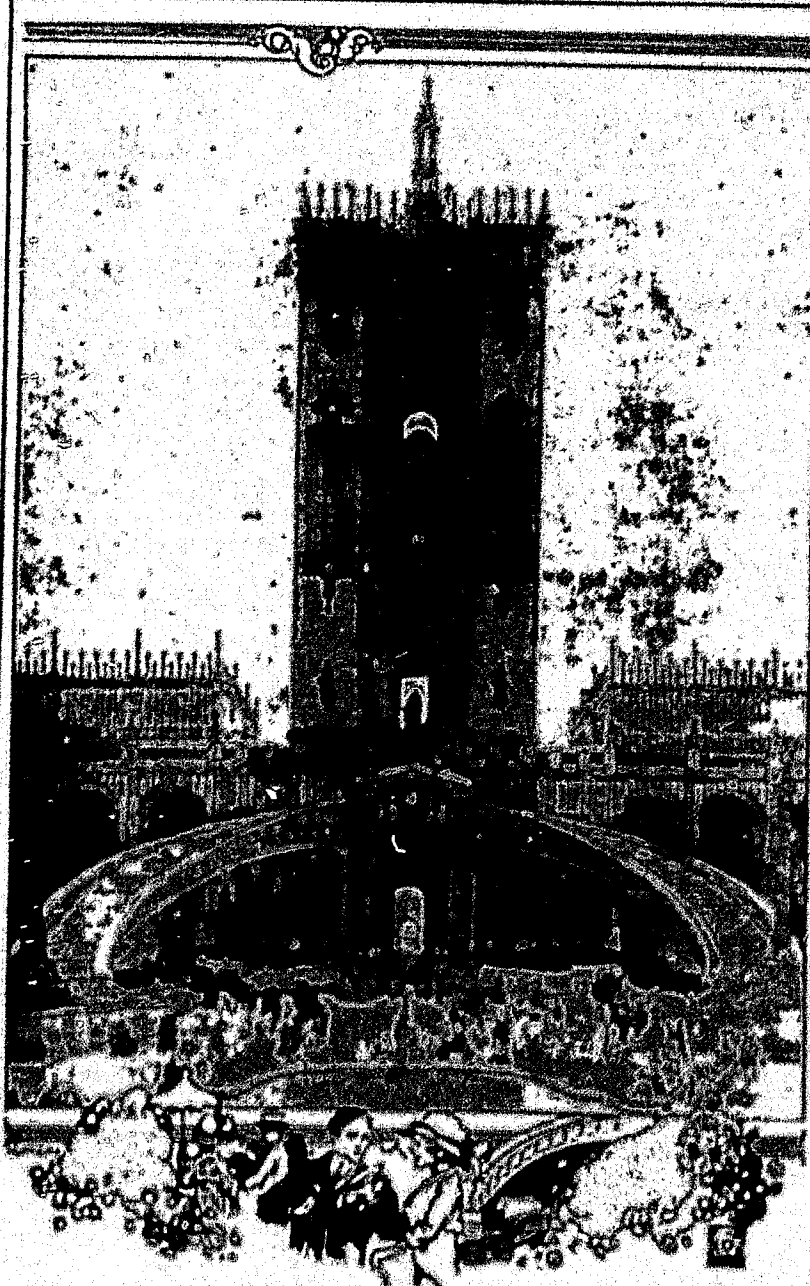

"A man who has stayed too long."—Catholic Standard and Times.

GREAT CASCADE STAIRWAY AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

GREAT CASCADE is the form of a staircase in the East or Festive Court at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. This court will be one of three great courts dividing the central group of exposition palaces from north to south. The waters of the cascade, springing from a mysterious source, will flow into two great fountains. The court, representing the finest form of the architecture of the Spanish Renaissance, is designed for pageantry upon a colossal scale. The great tower, 210 feet high, at the northern entrance of the court will contain a pipe organ with echo organs in the smaller towers.

MOTOR TRANSPORTATION BUILDING, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION, SAN FRANCISCO, 1915.

THE Motor Transportation building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be one of the largest of the exposition palaces, approximately 275 feet front by 500 feet deep and covering more than five acres. The theme of the architecture will be emblematic of the triumph of modern transportation, the automobile. Groups of statuary will typify the triumph of the motor over the elements. The main group will typify the conquest over the land. Other groups of statuary will convey allegorically the victory of the motorboat over the sea and of the aeroplane over the air. On either side of the entire length of the building there will be a frieze ten feet high in bas-relief giving the history of transportation from the early log cart up to the most modern automobile. The dome which surmounts the center of the front portion of the building will be 130 feet high.

The court will be luxuriant with tropical growths. Behind the columns of the colonnade encircling the court will be mural paintings expressive of the theme of the court and designed by Mr. Jules Guerin, one of America's most noted decorative artists.

Didn't Want Any.

Swiggy came downstairs to a 10 o'clock breakfast with a vacant countenance and a backward tendency in his hair that made his eyes ache. He sat down at the table and, picking up his fork, glared in uneasy wonder at something on the plate before him. It had evidently been fried and was intended for food.

Swiggy layponed it with his fork and lifted it bodily, gazing at it with increasing wonder.

"What under the sun," he exclaimed at last, "is this thing?"

"Well," replied his patient wife, with the shadow of a sigh, "it looks like your new soft felt hat, and that is what I thought it was, but you pulled it out of your pocket when you came home this morning and said it was a nice steak, and you wanted it fried for breakfast. You needn't give me any of it. I'm not hungry."

And Swiggy, who was just wild to know what else he said when he came home, and what time it was, for the life of him didn't dare to ask—Petersen's.

Shocked and Grieved Her Husband.

Jimson was a little, sharp-eyed shoemaker with stooped shoulders and a chin whisker. He lived in a Missouri river town, and whenever he drank too much he used to wind up by going home and thrashing his wife. She never failed to go over to a neighbor's after a session with the old man and complain bitterly of his treatment. After awhile the neighbors grew weary of the oft-repeated tale and remarked: "Well, you seem to like it. You always take it willingly. Why don't you pick up something and hit him with it the next time he whips you?" The wife considered the matter, and the next time her lord began to beat her she grasped a chair and smashed it over his head. The old man fell back in stark amazement, dropped his hands and stared at her.

"Why, Mary—why, Mary!" he whimpered. "What on earth is the matter with you? You never done this way before."—Kansas City Star.

Humanity to Mules.

"In the fifteen years that I have been connected with societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals in this and other cities I never have received a complaint alleging cruelty to a mule," said the humane-looking man. "That immunity of mules from harsh treatment is an interesting question. Why are they immune? There are plenty of mules, even in Philadelphia. Does nobody beat them? Does nobody underfeed them? If not, why not? Does a mule show such a decided ability to take care of himself that his owner is afraid to abuse him, or do men beat mules and starve them and escape punishment because the persons who witness the beating and starving think it is only a mule and not worth bothering about? What is the explanation of that phase of the mule question, anyhow?"—Philadelphia Ledger.

An Old Scotch Sundial.

Record is contained in the Bible of a sundial set up in 771 B. C. by Ahaz to commemorate the miraculous healing of his son, Hezekiah. A very ancient one was some time ago discovered lying in the grounds of the ruined castle of Fintona, Killin, Perthshire, Scotland, the ancient seat of the Breadalbanes. Until its most dial, it has twelve planes for recording the hours and two circular planes for use in summer and winter respectively. For many centuries the occupants of the castle deciphered its many angles as it stood reared on a tall pedestal, reflected in the waters of a fountain. The interval of nearly 2,000 years between this dial and that set up by Ahaz shows for how long the dial held its own as an object of utility.

The Critic Criticized.

Whistler once gave a tart answer to a critic of one of the "nocturnes." This critic said the nocturne in question wasn't good. Whistler screwed his mouth and grinned at the man. "Don't say it isn't good," he said. "Say you don't like it. Then you'll be safer. And now come over here. Here is something you do like." And Whistler led the critic to a sideboard where there stood a whiskey bottle.

Not in His Class.

The young man with a perpendicular measurement of six feet and breadth in proportion had asked the demure little maiden of four feet six to marry him.

"Harold," she said, casting out a resentful glance up at him, "that isn't fair! It isn't sportsmanlike! Take one of your size!"—Chicago Tribune.

Like All the Rest.

Transient Guest—I never saw such a crowd of people in all my life. I have been to the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893, the Panama-Pacific in 1915, and the Panama-Pacific in 1915. I have never seen such a crowd of people in all my life.

That Tired Feeling

That comes to you every spring is a sign that your blood is wanting in vitality, just as pimples and other eruptions are signs that it is impure. Do not delay treatment, but begin at once to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, which accomplishes its wonderful results, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the great curative principles of many roots, herbs, and other valuable ingredients.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The Medicine that makes people feel better, look, eat and sleep better; the remedy for stomach, kidney and liver ailments, rheumatism, catarrh, scrofula, skin diseases, boils, debility, and other ills arising from impure or impoverished blood.

"I felt tired all the time and could not sleep nights. After taking Hood's Sarsaparilla a little while I could sleep well and the tired feeling had gone. This great medicine has also cured me of scrofula." Mrs. C. M. Root, Box 25, Orléans, Conn.

LOCAL HISTORY.

January, 1820, to Paris—forty-seven miles.
March, 1831 to Bethel—seventy miles from Portland.
July, 1831, to Gorham, N. H.—ninety miles.
What happened in Bethel, whether or not there was a popular demonstration, I cannot state, when the first regular passenger train made its appearance.

The road was a success from the start. The gold discovery in California had created a demand for more vessels and Maine having been a vessel producing state the demand was readily felt hereabouts, but the "California fever" took from the state many persons engaged in farm work. The road however prospered, so that, upon July 1, 1831, the attendance was $235,872—a much larger sum than its most sanguine promoters calculated upon.

A writer of that time, speaking of the State railroad thus said:
"Portland seems to be steadily improving in many respects. New and handsome blocks of stores have been built; gas has been introduced throughout the city, and the general appearance of things is that of thrift and progress. Five years ago the place was remarkable for the dull and forlorn aspect of its business streets, but it seems now to have awakened from its long slumber, and is fast succeeding in wealth and importance."

It must be borne in mind that prior to the advent of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence railroad that Port was the water or harbor street, that at that time, Commercial street was demanded and built against much opposition. Another writer said at that time:
"By the opening of the road to Gorham, N. H., a new and large province of business is secured by the travel to the White Mountains. The whole northern and eastern side of Mt. Washington is open to the tourist, only five miles distant, the distance from Portland being but four hours ride. A great and increasing flow of pleasure travel has already commenced, which, with the other ways of business, will greatly strengthen the company, until they complete the line, and command the great through business with the St. Lawrence and the Lakes."

Bethel then on account of her place of natural beauties, good roads, and easy access from town and state, good farming land came in with the railroad. White Mountains as a much freer and varied place and for a while received much of the public attention and the summer season, this increasing popularity, and the hotel accommodations, the larger part of a better quality than that of the city, and the fact that the railroad, which is almost impossible to be broken, but able to take of great profits for local use and small amount of money raised by taxation for municipal purposes and the ease with which it is now spent by officials. Some one has said that comparisons are odious and some other person has put the "opinion" in print, but the point from which the view is taken and the object to be obtained makes true the often repeated saying that "circumstances alter cases."

The greatest epoch unquestionably in the history of Bethel is the conception and establishment of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence railroad. The period of 1820, a little before and after, is fraught with events that appear, even when viewed from remote points, more like fiction than reality. The creation of the railroad bridge, as an example, as a speculative enterprise was well enough but when the $18,000 thing was thrust upon the taxpayers of the town instead of the county or State the procedure was an event meriting the severest condemnation and no court of equity ought to allow the existence of the noxious situation as long after a request by the tax payers has been made for the removal of the incubus from the list of liabilities of the town.

SHERIFF BALLOU GUILTY.

mailed for both sides and much evidence has been heard.

Former Attorney General Pattangall of Portland, Wm. H. Gulliver and Irving E. Vernon of Portland are Sheriff Moulton's counsel, while Attorney General Wilson of Portland and Judge Benjamin F. Cleaves of Biddeford are presenting the evidence against him.

Saturday's and Monday's evidence seemed stronger than that against Balloou despite the attempts of Moulton's counsel to avert it.

One of the witnesses who caused something of a sensation was Linus Seely of Portland.

In the cross examination Mr. Seely had been telling of purchases of liquor. "Where is it?" demanded Mr. Gulliver.

"Oh, over here," grinned Mr. Seely, abstracting a half-pint bottle of whiskey from his hip pocket.

Mr. Gulliver immediately became somewhat confused, but was saved in his stammering by a burst of laughter and hand-clapping from every part of the house. Having recovered his assurance, Mr. Gulliver persisted:

"Well, where's the other?"

"The other one" was on Mr. Seely's other hip and was produced to an accompaniment of another gale of laughter and applause.

Before the defense, in the case of Sheriff Moulton of Cumberland, opened his case Tuesday morning, the State put on William F. Dyer, chief clerk in the freight office of the Portland Terminal Co., who testified as to the amount of consignments of liquor received by Thomas A. Brownrigg and Patrick A. Sullivan for the period between January 5, and March 27 of this year. Sullivan's record was way ahead of that of Mr. Brownrigg. The totals for Sullivan were 1,715 barrels of beer and ale, 793 half-barrels of beer and ale, 217 quarter-barrels of beer and ale, 455 cases of bottled beer and ale. Brownrigg had 14 half-barrels of beer and ale, and 231 quarter-barrels. The total amount of beer and ale received by the two men in bulk for that period, was 73,584 gallons.

Mayor Curtis of Portland, City Clerk Waterhouse, Alderman Jordan and a small army of other Cumberland County men offered their testimony in defense of Sheriff Moulton's term of office Tuesday.

Mayor Curtis was the last witness of the afternoon. Standing in front of the speaker's desk, with his feet firmly planted and his hands thrust into his coat pockets, he answered the questions fired at him in his character. He declared that enforcement in Portland was the best ever. He declared that he had made the statement that if any signed complaint were brought to him about liquor being sold he would take them up personally with the sheriff.

Mayor Curtis also very stoutly declared that he was no spy, but that his opinions in regard to the enforcement of the liquor law had been arrived at as the result of general observations. He had not gone into the barrooms.

City Clerk Waterhouse Tuesday evening told the joint convention that he thought the situation was regulated in fine shape. Alderman Jordan came into the hall by making a stump speech, and had to be cautioned by Attorney Gulliver not to argue the question.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

For the first time in history, a woman may have the opportunity of an appointment to the president of the Senate for the speaker of the House that she is the bearer "of a message from the President of the United States." Miss Alberta Hill of New York is after the White House job now held by M. P. Latta, who for many years has carried the messages of the President to the Senate and House and in impressive tones in both chambers declared the nature of his visit. Miss Hill, who has held important and confidential positions with the Democratic national committee in its New York headquarters, has brought great influence to bear in her effort to land the office. Presumably, however, will have to be satisfied if Miss Hill is appointed, for it has been an unwritten rule for years that no woman should be employed in the executive office. Miss Hill is an ardent suffragist and has gained some reputation as a public speaker. She was one of the object sides in the suffrage parade at Washington on March 8.

DOES IT PAY TO SPRAY FRUIT TREES?

Lecture by W. H. Darrow, Instructor in Horticulture, in the Farmers' Week Courses, Orono, Wednesday, March 6.

"Does It Pay to Spray?" This was the question with which Mr. W. H. Darrow opened his lecture on the spraying of fruit trees in the Farmers' Week Course at Orono, Wednesday morning. Mr. Darrow's answer to this question bristled with facts, and arguments, and set forth clearly the advantages to be derived from thorough and persistent spraying. It also set forth in considerable detail methods of spraying, and the various insects and disease pests, for the eradication of which spraying is done. In substance, Mr. Darrow said:

Few fruit growers will ever spray their trees unless they can be shown that it is money in their pockets to do so. Let us then first consider the question "Does it pay to spray?" New York State has made, within the last few years, several apple orchard surveys of its important fruit producing counties. In Ontario County it was found that the four year average (1904-7), for the unsprayed orchards, was a yield of 40.2 bushels per acre, with an income of $97.60. The four year average of the orchards sprayed three times was a yield of 64.3 bushels per acre, with an income of $140.26.

In Niagara County the results were still more marked. In 1905 the average yield of all the unsprayed orchards was 201 bushels per acre, with an income of $45. The average yield of all orchards sprayed four times was 390 bushels per acre, with an income of $183.

A still more recent investigation by our Canadian friends shows the following results. The figures show the comparison between 15 sprayed and 15 unsprayed orchards.

Sprayed, cultivated, etc.—1907, 117 bushels, $150.10; 1908, 65.6 bushels, $94.20; 1909, 82.3 bushels, $131.60. Average for three years, 85.3 bushels, worth $125.10 net per acre.

Unsprayed, cultivated, etc.—1907, 87.4 bushels, $101.55; 1908, 52.6 bushels, $62.70; 1909, 62 bushels, $79.50. Average for three years, 67.3 bushels, worth $81.35 net per acre.

The cost of spraying (3 times) an acre of average sized trees should not in any case exceed $15. In many cases it has not exceeded $10. The figures show beyond a doubt that spraying not only benefits the fruit trees, but also the grower's pocketbook.

Having then first shown that it pays the fruit grower to spray his trees, the next thing to find out is when to spray and what to spray for. Our orchard pests are divided into three distinct groups.

1. The Chewing Insects, such as the codling moth, or common apple worm, and the apple tree tent-caterpillar. These insects are usually controlled by applying to their food such poisons as arsenate of lead and Paris green.

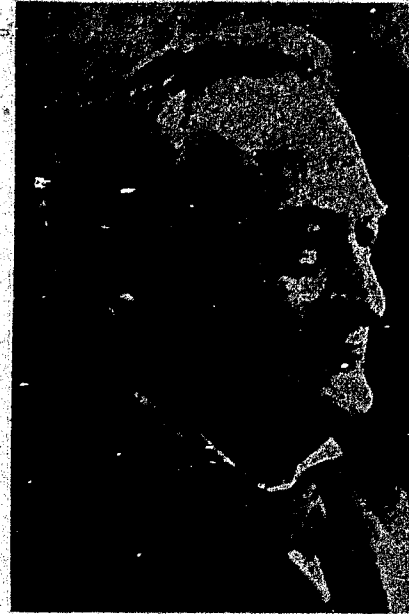

2. The Sucking Insects, such as the scales and plant lice, or aphids. These insects are furnished with a beak, which they insert into the plant, and through this they suck out the sap. Sucking insects cannot be controlled by a food poison, but must be killed by a direct application of a contact insecticide, such as lime-sulphur, soap and oil. In fighting sucking insects every individual insect must be hit by the spray, while in the case of chewing insects, it is merely necessary to apply the poison thoroughly on the leaves.

3. The Fungus Diseases, such as scab, leaf spot, and black rot. Fungi are small plants which are unable to make their own food materials, and therefore they depend upon other plants for their food. The mycelium (roots) of the fungus penetrate the tissues of the plant, and live upon their contents. After the roots of the fungus have once entered the plant it is impossible to get at them with any spray material. We must have the spray material on the tree first, and prevent the fungus from getting in. In other words, we can prevent a fungus disease, such as scab, by spraying, but we cannot cure it after it gets a good start. Fungus diseases then must be prevented by spraying the trees with a fungicide, such as lime-sulphur and Bordeaux mixture.

If we had to spray for each of our orchard pests separately, we would have an endless task before us. It has been found, however, that three or four well timed sprayings will control practically all of our troubles. That is, if we choose the right spray materials, we may mix together our insecticides and our fungicides and apply both at the same time.

We must also keep in mind that the fungus diseases spread most rapidly in damp, rainy weather. Therefore, it is necessary for nearly all fungus diseases to spray before rains, not after. The spores (seeds) of the fungus are scattered and germinate during rains, so delay after. Protect the trees by having the mixture on when the rains come. Insects or time-suckers does not wash off easily. (If spraying in insect pests alone, apply the mixture

Constipation and Catarrh

S. E. HARTMAN, M. D.

You are constipated. You have taken laxatives a great many years. You have tried to select a diet that would keep your bowels regular. In this you have failed and were obliged to go back to your laxatives again. This I say, has been going on many years.

You also have a slight catarrh in the head and throat. You never imagined that the catarrh had anything to do with the constipation. Suppose I were to tell you that as long as you have that catarrh you will never get better of your constipation. Would you believe me or not? It is the truth.

For many years I have been wrestling with the problem of furnishing the public an internal catarrh remedy. Peruna has been the remedy that I have devised and it has certainly relieved many thousands of people, you hundreds of thousands of people, of chronic catarrh.

Constipation was my chief difficulty in treating these cases. It often felt that it would be better if a laxative element were added to Peruna. I feared to do so, however, first because of the number of catarrhal patients who needed no laxative, and second I was afraid of making such a radical change in a remedy that was already doing so well. Thus it was that I continued to prescribe with the Peruna a bottle of Manalin to those who needed a laxative. At last, under circumstances explained in my booklet, I was constrained to add the laxative element to Peruna. This constitutes what is now known as the revised Peruna.

Now those who take Peruna will, first, find themselves promptly relieved of their constipation. Second, the catarrh will gradually disappear. And once the catarrh is cured the constipation leaves permanently. Then if you follow the advice given in my book, you will never have to take pills any more. Cathartics and laxatives you can ignore. You will be permanently relieved of both your catarrh and the constipation. PERUNA IS FOR BALTIC ART STOMACHS.

SPECIAL NOTICE—Many persons are making inquiries for the old-time Peruna. This is because this formula is now put out under the name of K-A-T-A-L-I-N-O, manufactured by C. O. R. & S. Co., Columbus, Ohio. Write them and they will be pleased to send you a free booklet.

after rains.) Use a nozzle that gives a fine, misty spray, and have plenty of pressure behind it. The time and thoroughness with which the work is done are more important factors in the control of insect pests and diseases than are the particular mixtures or poisons used.

For testing the strength of lime-sulphur solutions every fruit grower should have an hydrometer. The Besenme Hydrometer is best. It consists merely of a weighted, hollow glass bulb or cylinder, with a graduated neck. When immersed in a liquid this sinks far enough to displace a bulk of liquid equal to its own weight, and consequently sinks further in light than in heavy solutions. These varying depths are read in degrees on the graduated neck, so we say the density of the liquid is so many "degrees Besenme." Reliable hydrometers may be purchased of the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., Rochester, N. Y. A pamphlet describing their use comes with the instruments. The complete hydrometer outfit costs from $1.50 to $12.50.

The first spraying for the apple orchard is the "dormant" spraying. This should be applied before the leaf buds open in the spring, but just as they are swelling. Lime-sulphur and arsenate of lead should be used for this spray. If the lime-sulphur tests with the hydrometer 32 or 33 degrees Besenme, it should be diluted at the rate 1:3. That is, one gallon of lime-sulphur solution to eight gallons of water. If the solution tests less than this, it should not be diluted so much. Lime-sulphur solutions seldom test more than 33.5 degrees Besenme. This strength of lime-sulphur is used for the San Jose and oyster shell scales. The fifth spraying should always be made in damp seasons. However, if the season is dry, this spraying can often be omitted. Bordeaux mixture may be substituted for the lime-sulphur solution in the second, third, fourth and fifth sprayings, but never in the first. The 3-3-50 formula should be used for making the Bordeaux mixture.

Nurse: "Oh, yes, indeed. He's nearly eight hours ahead of time."

Wilfred was sitting on his father's knee watching his mother arranging her hair.

"Papa hasn't any waves like that," said the father, laughingly.

Wilfred looking at his father's bald pate, replied: "No; no waves; it's all lime-sulphur is for the scab, and the bleach."
